1200. U.S. MODEL 1884 TRAPDOOR RIFLE serial #417184, 45-70 Govt, 32 1/2" barrel with a very good bore. The metal surfaces are an overall plum brown patina with some wear to pewter on the sharp edges and contact points with sparsely scattered oxidation and lightly scattered pinprick pitting. The breechblock shows some remnants of silvery case-hardening, as does the lockplate; the hammer shows some light pitting. The stock rates good-fair as moderately cleaned many years ago showing overall tool marks, now devoid of any cartouches or markings. There is a crack from the left side arm of the breech pivot pin through the left stock screw, down through the front extension of the triggerguard, extending up the right side to beneath the lock, it will flex slightly. There is no cleaning rod present however the lock seems to function well mechanically. (7249-114) {ANTIQUE} (200/400)
1201. ITHACA CRASS MODEL BOXLOCK DOUBLE SHOTGUN serial #31363, 12 ga., 20 1/2" barrels shortened and unchoked with about very good bores. The barrels show damascus twist pattern their whole length with light brown oxidation staining scattered here and there. The frame is a dark gray-brown patina, also with light oxidation staining and the screws showing some light damage to their slots. The checkered round knob pistolgrip buttstock and splinter style forend rate about very good as refinished a number of years ago, the checkering chased but retaining dings and dents beneath the finish. The stock is loose on the action and exhibits cracks at the lower cheeks left and right. Barrels are on-face however the top lever is at the end of its travel and the safety will not disengage. (37592-67S19421C) {ANTIQUE} (100/200)
1202. BELGIAN FLOBERT STYLE RIFLE Likely .22 Caliber. 22 1/2" octagon barrel. The bore condition cannot be ascertained due to obstructions and oxidation. The metal surfaces are overall moderately oxidized and the breechblock is not present. The stock rates good with a small chip missing at the rear of the tang, now devoid of finish with oxidation staining leaching in here and there. (37592-66S19421B) {MODERN} (5/10)
1203. WINCHESTER MODEL 190 SEMI-AUTO RIFLE serial #B2100072, 22 LR, 20" barrel with an indeterminate bore. The steel surfaces show remnants of blue with overall light surface oxidation. The aluminum receiver shows overall scratches, dings and handling marks. The buttstock rates very good with dings and handling marks and a moderate chip at the heel, there is no buttplate. The entire trigger assembly and forend are missing. The outer magazine tube and inner magazine tube are present but no other hardware is. There is a moderately oxidized bolt present and likely other parts missing. (37592-26S19403) {MODERN} (10/20)
1204. UNMARKED BELGIAN FOLDING TRIGGER DOUBLE ACTION REVOLVER WITH CUSTOMS DECLARATION PAPERS serial #1125, 22 RF, 1 1/2" barrel with a fair bore. The metal surfaces retain about 92% original nickel with some minor flaking and loss to some light brown oxidation, primarily on the right side of the frame. There is very light scroll engraving on frame and cylinder. The checkered hard rubber grips rate very good plus with a couple very minor flakes. The gun operates loosely mechanically, the trigger does not always return and the grips are slightly loose. Comes with a brown leather pocket holster which rates very good, "Glenn Bright" along with what is likely his service number and "Italy/1945" are written on the inside of the holster flap. The bring back "customs declaration" is written to Tech Sgt. Glenn J Bright with his service number and 185th (Regiment is illegible), 535th Services Group. Nothing about the revolver is mentioned on the declaration yet it is accompanied by it. (37591-10) {C&R} (75/150)
1205. WILLIAM MARSTON PERCUSSION DOUBLE ACTION PEPPERBOX serial #5103, .32 cal., 3" six-barrel cluster showing oxidized bores. The metal surfaces are an overall dull gunmetal gray and show overall light and moderate pitting. There is no maker name that is legible however "New York" is legible on both one of the barrel ribs and the bar hammer. The bag shaped walnut grips rate about very good as refinished many years ago showing heavy coat of varnish. The firearm is not functional. (37527-1) {ANTIQUE} (100/200)

1206. STARR ARMS COMPANY MODEL 1858 DOUBLE ACTION REVOLVER .44 cal., 6" round barrel with a heavily oxidized bore. The metal surfaces on this relic revolver are an overall brown and orange oxidized patina with just the tiniest traces of blue showing through in a few spots. The revolver is not mechanically functional, there is no tension on the hammer nor trigger and there may be small parts missing here and there. No markings are legible. The one-piece grip is a rudimentarily made softwood replacement from quite some time ago. A salty old relic that would've had a story to tell. (37591-2) {ANTIQUE} (200/400)

1207. MEDITERRANEAN "FLINTLOCK" PISTOL This is a non-firing flintlock pistol made for the tourist trade. The barrel is roughly 10 1/2" in length, the bore lightly oxidized. The rudimentary banana-shape lock is an overall dull brown patina, as-is the barrel, the barrel showing light pitting its full length. The lock shows tool marks and is not mechanically functional. The roughcast brass triggerguard, dual-straped buttcap and sideplate show cast-in-relief decoration which is not readily discernible. The hardwood Mediterranean stock rates very good with coarse silver wire inlay. An interesting Mediterranean-region tourist pistol overall. (37591-1) (40/80)

1208. UNMARKED EUROPEAN FLINTLOCK MARTIAL PISTOL .70 cal., 9" barrel with an oxidized bore. This appears to be French but has been cleaned of all markings. All of the metal surfaces are a dull pewter gray patina with some light tool marks, light oxidation and scattered very light pinprick pitting. The European walnut stock rates very good with overall minor dings, dents and handling marks from the years showing much original varnish and a partial left-side cartouche or marking. The arm is a nice quality reconversion to flint, there is an iron ramrod present and the lock seems to function properly. (37708-5) {ANTIQUE} (300/500)

1209. HOPKINS & ALLEN ARMS COMPANY FOREHAND SHOTGUN FRAME serial #219740, 12 ga., This is what appears to be a complete frame for the Hopkins & Allen Forehand shotgun. The metal surfaces an overall mostly smooth gray and plum patina showing some scattered light oxidation and perhaps the odd scattered pinprick pit here or there. (37520-7) {MODERN} (15/30)

1210. UNMARKED MEDITERRANEAN MAGHRIBI CANE GUN This is a rather rudimentary Miquelet-lock "cane gun", for lack of a better definatory term. The caliber is roughly .42 with a 39 1/2" octagon barrel with an oxidized bore. The exterior surfaces of the barrel are an overall light brown oxidized patina with spots of active oxidation and pitting. The barrel is retained to the hardwood stock by four hammered silver capucines and two copper capucines at the rear, one retaining the front portion of the iron lockplate. The lock itself is very rudimentary with an extremely strong spring, currently it does not function. The Mediterranean hardwood stock rates very good with a good deal of original varnish and handling marks and dings along with some drying checks in the highly figured section at the bottom. Both show "(rectangle) SA" Finnish Army property markings. One has its feed lips slightly bent over a bit more than the other. The mags come in a gray-green painted wooden magazine carrier with closable top and leather belt loops affixed. There is light flaking on the leather billets, they are still supple and flexible however. The leading edge of the carrier is marked with the Finnish Civil Guard "SKY" property marking. The next item is an unidentified antiaircraft sight. It is flat stamped sheet metal and blued with two concentric rings and u-shaped aperture index marks.
